DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

Milestone No. 7(8) marks Mason and Dixon's seventh mile west of the initial stone at the northeast corner of Maryland on their West Line. Originally, 24 monuments were set along the present Cecil/Chester and Lancaster county boundary (1 double crownstone at the corner set in 1768; 4 crownstones and 19 milestones in 1766). Of these, 3 crownstones and 17 milestones are still standing, No. 7(8) amongst them and at a site preliminarily surveyed in 1765.

The area here is still predominantly rural, rolling farmland interspersed with woodlots, though with increasing numbers of new houses along Indian Trail Road. The site is about 1½ miles east-northeast of the settlement of Lombard, Maryland; about 2½ miles due west of the settlement of Lewisville, Pennsylvania; about 600' north of Woolens Road; and about 50' in back of (north of) the Gibelino's new brick house. It cannot be seen from the road, but is easily seen from their house, and is well protected by this family as well as by an east-west wire fence a few inches from the north side of the monument.

The monument, originally set to stand about 3' above ground, was reset to stand about 1½' high in 1902 during the course of the 1900-03 Resurvey of the Maryland-Pennsylvania boundary, when it was also surrounded by a collar of concrete below ground level. It presently stands about 1' above ground, is in place firmly, but only in fair condition with a large chunk out of the southeast corner and many other chips along the edges and corners. As with all original Mason and Dixon West Line monuments: it is an embellished, squared oolitic limestone post with a low pyramidal top, and was quarried and carved in England. The stone now measures about 11½" square; the letter P on the north side facing Pennsylvania is intact, but not the letter M on the south (Maryland) side. Most fluting remains, though only a few bits of margins. The top planes are gone, though some fluting is still discernible.

(see Thematic Group NR nomination form for a description of original milestones and the 1900-03 Resurvey method of resetting)

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

Milestone No. 7(8) is significant primarily as one of 111 original Mason and Dixon milestones still standing along their West Line, the boundary commonly known as the Mason-Dixon Line since Civil War times and notable for its historical impact and innovative survey methods. The site was preliminarily surveyed in 1765 and monumented the following year, reset more securely in 1902 during the course of the 1900-03 Resurvey of the Maryland-Pennsylvania boundary. Individually, and as one of 17 original milestones within the present Cecil/Chester and Lancaster county boundary, No. 7(8) is also significant locally as one of a diminishing number of objects and structures with an identifiable relationship to our colonial and Civil War heritage.
